Description:

This talk covers experience and reflection around using TCS ERP for last one year at RK University. The idea is not to promote the use of one ERP but narrate what is possible and status at present in terms of Learning & Teaching. The similar thing one can do using canvas and Edmodo too but not as an institution for other is more at the individual level. So the shared experience is at the course level and organisational level. This shall work sharing screen transcending from one module to other with interaction. At present no conclusion is drawn as it will be left for the audience to evolve and share their experience at their end if using with some advice and consultancy that could be provided. The flow of presentation will from the use of campus management system using TCS ion and later on more with using TCS-LX which will be the main focus. The idea of presenting this is to provide networking facilitating using external invite and how to stimulate the online discussion and state at present using various activities that can be performed online.
