Description:

Carlo Manfredini (BE Hons, BFA) is co-founder and R & D Director of EMONA TIMS, which has 30 years experience in designing and manufacturing University level laboratory teaching equipment which is now used in over 40 countries. He has a strong interest in pioneering remote access labs and EMONA now offers several solutions to users wishing to extend the reach of their laboratory capabilities. With MOOCs, blended learning and flipped classrooms being the norm, hear how EMONA has created solutions to deliver hardware "learning by doing" platforms. Carlo is based in Sydney, Australia and enjoys coaching younger students in robotics in his spare time.
